Dear Dr. Martin:

Thank you for considering our submission, "Electron microscopic reconstruction of functionally identified cells in a neural integrator," for publication in your journal.

We have made minor revisions to the manuscript to include changes suggested by the editorial team:

- We have limited the word count in the article to around 5500.
- The references adhere to the Current Biology style.
- We have completed all sections of the STAR methods part of the paper.

We hope that the revised manuscript meets all the requirements of the editorial review.
